

Congressional Biomedical Research Caucus 2010 Briefing Series

March 17

Dr. David J. Brenner
Columbia University

“Airport Screening: The Science and Risks of Backscatter Imaging.”

B-339 Rayburn Building

April 21

Dr. Robert DeRubeis
University of Pennsylvania

“The Treatment of Depression: What Works, When, and Why”

122 Cannon Building

May 12

Dr. Henry Chambers
University of California, San Francisco

“Germs We Cannot Always Kill: Methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA)”

B-338 Rayburn Building

May 26

Dr. Mina J. Bissell
Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory

“Cancer Cells and Their Neighborhoods”

B-338 Rayburn Building

June 9

Dr. Daniel Silver
Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

“PARP Inhibitors: A Breakthrough in Cancer Therapy?”

B-338 Rayburn Building

June 23

Dr. John Coffin
Tufts University

“Viruses in our Genomes: Unending Surprises”

B-338 Rayburn Building

July 21

Dr. Ann Partridge
Dana-Farber Cancer Institute
“The Mammography Controversy Redux”

B-338 Rayburn Building

July 28

Dr. John Tisdale
National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases
“Stem Cells in Gene Therapy”

B-338 Rayburn Building

Sept. 15

Dr. Charmane Eastman
Rush University Medical Center
“The Science of Jet Lag and its Management”

B-339 Rayburn Building

Sept. 22

Dr. Peter Palese
Mt Sinai School of Medicine
“H1N1 Influenza (Swine Flu): Where We Stand”
B-339 Rayburn Building

All Caucus briefings start at 12 Noon. Lunch will be served. In accordance with Congressional Ethics, these are considered widely attended events and allowable under the House and Senate Gift bans.

The Caucus presentations are made possible through a generous grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.